1. Application Number 09/830, 271 was filed on 04/25/2001. Claims 1-17 are subject to examination.

Specification

2. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities:
  - a. The following guidelines illustrate the preferred layout for the specification of a utility application. These guidelines are suggested for the applicant's use.

Arrangement of the Specification

As provided in 37 CFR 1.77(b), the specification of a utility application should include the following sections in order. Each of the lettered items should appear in upper case, without underlining or bold type, as a section heading. If no text follows the section heading, the phrase "Not Applicable" should follow the section heading:

(a) TITLE OF THE INVENTION.

(b) CROSS-REFERENCE TO RELATED APPLICATIONS.

(c) STATEMENT REGARDING FEDERALLY SPONSORED RESEARCH OR DEVELOPMENT.

(d) INCORPORATION-BY-REFERENCE OF MATERIAL SUBMITTED ON A COMPACT DISC (See 37 CFR 1.52(e)(5) and MPEP 608.05. Computer program listings (37 CFR 1.96(c)), "Sequence Listings" (37 CFR 1.821(c)), and tables having more than 50 pages of text are permitted to be submitted on compact discs.) or REFERENCE TO A "MICROFICHE APPENDIX" (See MPEP § 608.05(a). "Microfiche Appendices" were accepted by the Office until March 1, 2001.)

(e) BACKGROUND OF THE INVENTION.

(1) Field of the Invention.

(2) Description of Related Art including information disclosed under 37 CFR 1.97 and 1.98.

(g) BRIEF DESCRIPTION OF THE SEVERAL VIEWS OF THE DRAWING(S).

(h) DETAILED DESCRIPTION OF THE INVENTION.

(i) CLAIM OR CLAIMS (commencing on a separate sheet).

(j) ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE (commencing on a separate sheet).

k) SEQUENCE LISTING (See MPEP § 2424 and 37 CFR 1.821-1.825. A "Sequence Listing" is required on paper if the application discloses a nucleotide or amino acid sequence as defined in 37 CFR 1.821(a) and if the required "Sequence Listing" is not submitted as an electronic document on compact disc).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

3. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

a. Claims 1-6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter.

These claims recite a messaging platform, failing to recite any hardware necessary to render the claims tangible.

For the purpose of this office action, it is assumed that the platform is incorporated into the appropriate hardware.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

Art Unit: 2154

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

5. Claims 1-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated Gallant et al. (US 5, 802, 466).

Referring to claim 1,

The reference teaches a messaging platform (Fig.1, element 104) including:

a) a message store arranged to receive message data and to store said message data for subsequent retrieval, (Fig.1, element 104 and 112, col.4, lines 53-55) characterised by

b) an overload controller (Fig.1, element 104) responsive to an overload condition in the platform and arranged, in response to the said overload condition, to limit loading of the platform.(col.4, lines 55-67 and col.5, lines 1-41)

Referring to claim 2,

The reference teaches a messaging platform according to claim 1, further comprising:

c) a control interface arranged to receive control requests instructing transactions on the messaging platform, (col.6, lines 58-62)

and in which the overload controller includes means for denying at least some of the control requests in response to the overload condition. (col.5, lines 36-41," VMS 104 sends a mailbox full notification to PCD 118 so that the subscriber can observe that mailbox 112 cannot receive any additional messages.")nd col.7, lines 27-35)

Referring to claim 3,

The reference teaches a platform according to claim 2, in which the overload controller programmed with criteria for applying different classes of service to control requests received at the control interface and the overload controller is arranged, in response to an overload condition on the platform, selectively to deny control requests depending on a class of service assigned in accordance with the said criteria to the control request. (col.5, lines 12-67 and col.6, lines 1-32, col.7, lines 27-35)

Referring to claims 4, 5 and 6,

The reference teaches a platform according to claim 3, in which the criteria apply a class of service selected depending on the identity of a service provider originating the said control requests, and in which the criteria apply a class of service selected depending on the identity of a subscriber mailbox to which the control request applies, and in which the criteria apply different service classes depending on the transaction requested by the control request. (col.6, lines 58-67 and col.7, lines 1-67 and col.8, lines 1-10).

Referring to claim 7,

The reference teaches a messaging system comprising:

a service platform running a messaging service application; (Fig.1, element 106 "PCN" consists of MSCs, BSCs, HLR and PSN) and a messaging platform according to claim 1 connected to the service platform via a control interface, and arranged to receive control requests from the service platform via the control interface. (Fig.1, element 104 9 inherent interface which programs mode of operation statically or dynamically, col.5, lines 12-15, or element 118 "PCD" with Mode select switch, col.6, lines 59-62)

Referring to claim 8,

The reference teaches a messaging system according to claim 7, in which the service platform is remote from the messaging platform. (Fig.1, elements 106 and 104)

Referring to claim 9,

Claim 9 is a claim to a communications network including a messaging platform according to claim 1. Therefore, claim 9 is rejected for the reasons set forth for claim 1.

Referring to claim 10,

The reference teaches a method of operating a messaging platform including:

- a) storing message data on the messaging platform:
- b) subsequently outputting message data from the platform, thereby allowing retrieval of a corresponding message; (Fig.1, element 104 and 112, col.4, lines 53-55) characterised by
- c) detecting an overload condition on the platform and in response to the overload condition limiting loading of the platform. (col.4, lines 55-67 and col.5, lines 1-41).

Referring to claim 11,

The reference teaches a method according to claim 10, further comprising

- d) receiving at the message platform control requests instructing transaction on the messaging platform, (col.6, lines 58-62)

and in which the step of limiting loading of the platform includes denying at least some of the control requests. (col.5, lines 36-41," VMS 104 sends a mailbox full notification to PCD 118 so that the subscriber can observe that mailbox 112 cannot receive any additional messages." And col.7, lines 27-35)

Referring to claim 12,

The reference teaches a method according to claim 11, including applying different classes of service to the control requests, and in response to the overload condition selectively denying some only of the control requests depending on the class of service applied to the control requests.(col.5, lines 12-67 and col.6, lines 1-32, col.7, lines 27-35)

Referring to claims 13, 14 and 15,

The reference teaches a method according to claim 12, including applying different classes of service to control requests depending on the identity of an originating service Provider, and including applying different classes of service to control requests depending on identities of customer mailboxes to which the control requests, and including applying different classes of service to control requests depending on the transaction requested by the control request. (col.6, lines 58-67 and col.7, lines 1-67 and col.8, lines 1-10).

Referring to claim 16,

The reference teaches a method according to claim 15, in which the messaging platform includes a plurality of mailboxes containing message data (Fig.1, element 112), each mailbox being switchable between an open state, in which message data may be written to or read from the mailbox, and a closed state, and in which the step of limiting loading includes allowing requests for the closing of a mailbox and denying requests for the opening of a mailbox. (col.7, lines 28-35, opening a mailbox indicates that opening a mailbox for incoming mail after deleting the some of the mails which limits the load).

Referring to claim 17,

Claim 17 is a claim to a communications network including a messaging system as in claim 7. Therefore, claim 17 is rejected for the reasons set forth for claim 7.
